

Abstract

The invention relates to a torque transducer assembly and to a torque transducer incorporating such an assembly. The invention has particular application to measuring torque in a fastening tool in which torque is generated in pulses and to measuring torque in an adaptor mountable to a pulsed-torque type of fastening tool.